OBJECTIVES
The 11th Biomedical Science and Technology Days aims bringing scientists and experts from universities, R&D institutions and industry working on this rapidly expanding and fascinating field in order to create a suitable atmosphere to exchange the existing knowledge; to discuss (possibly to share) futuristic ideas; and to create collaborations among different parties.

CONTENT
Nine symposia on different topics in this area will be organized in parallel under the umbrella of BIOMED 2004. All detailed information can be reached through the main website http://www.biomed2004.hacettepe.edu.tr In this symposium GENETIC ENGINEERING AND BIOTECHNOLOGY FOR HEALTH will be discussed from a variety of scientific and technological viewpoints. Invited lecturers and free presentations (by selection, and as oral or poster) will be delivered by both national and international participants.

LANGUAGE
The official language of the symposium will be English.

LOCATION
The symposium will be organized at Hacettepe University-City Campus, in Ankara. More information can be found on the website.

ORGANIZATION
The organization of BIOMED 2004 will be done by Hacettepe University-Bioengineering Applied and Research Center and Chemical Engineering Dept.

ABSTRACTS
Abstracts should be submitted through e-mail to the corresponding organizer (tkutsal@hacettepe.edu.tr) Abstracts should be written in Word 95 (or higher) with Times New Roman-11 points and not exceed 100 words. Please check the example on the website.
